'CO-HONOR' STUDENTS

Numerous Awards Given Members of 65th Class;
Symposium Well Done

For the first time in the history of Bristol high school two Grundy medals were awarded last evening. The occasion was the commencement exercises of the 65th class, held in the Grand Theatre. Recipients of these high honors were Margaret Rohn, who completed the academic course with an average of 91.78; and Julia Tison, whose average in the commercial course was 91.618. Only 12/100ths of a point separated the averages of the two. The board of school directors, therefore, deemed it wise that two medals be bestowed, the young women being designated as co-honor students. The Grundy medals were presented by Mrs. William Harding, president of the school board.

Many awards were given on this occasion, just prior to the presentation of diplomas by the board president, the class having been presented by high school principal David L. Hertzler.

The symposium, "The Living Present," which was the commencement feature, was directed by Philip B. Frankmore, of the high school faculty. Based on Longfellow's "Psalm of Life," the symposium, through the numerous student speakers, reminded of the wonderment that comes to the skeptic if life is worth living. Throughout the various phases it was shown how the soul is lifted from despair and gloom, "the spirit telling that God is good, and the soul telling how wonderful is life." The following verse was quoted as voicing the spirit of the people and their goal:

"Trust no future, how'er pleasant,
Let the dead Past bury its dead.
Act! Act! In the living present, Heart within, and God overhead."

One group of students gave emphasis to scientific progress; another to work, making for "The Happy Man," and learning, "The Wise Man." The "Peace Hymn," "Song of the New Dawn," "Work, for the Night is Coming," "Battle Hymn of the Republic," and "Voice of Freedom" were effectively woven in by the high school choir. Emphasis was placed on the honor and dignity of labor, the symposium ending on the theme "Heart within, and God overhead"—one speaker reminding that "anything done without such a spirit is worthless." The choir was directed by Charles Quigley, music director of the school.

FABLE FOR EISENHOWER

The name of General Dwight D. Eisenhower continues to be bandied about in politics. Rumors persist that he is about to take part in some spectacular maneuver. Some say he will be used to set off a stampede for Senator Vandenberg's nomination at the Republican convention. There have been several public references to a quite different story—that his name will go before the Democratic convention in an effort to head off the re-nomination of Mr. Truman.

Just how much fire is back of this smoke remains to be seen. On the face of the record, General Eisenhower can hardly help being displeased at the way these rumors keep going the rounds. He disclaimed ambition for the Presidency in a flat-footed statement some weeks ago—and went on to prove that a military leader should not be given that high post.

If by any chance, the General has in mind to step back into politics, after having thus bowed out, he would be exceedingly well advised to recall a story out of political history—and then, if he is really bright enough to be a suitable person to head Columbia University, he will sternly resist all temptation to permit himself to be used by political self-seekers.

The fable which General Eisenhower ought to recall—though it isn't really fable, but true fact—has to do with the misadventures of Admiral George Dewey exactly forty-eight years ago.

There are some astonishing parallels between the situation then and now. History has repeated, in many of the important details.

Then as now, the Democratic party was in a box. It was stuck with a candidate it didn't want. Today the party is stuck with President Truman. In 1900, it was William Jennings Bryan. Bryan had "stolen" the 1896 nomination, having stampeded the convention with his "cross of gold" speech.

As the 1900 conventions neared, the Democrats of that time found it just as hard to escape re-nominating Bryan, and going down to defeat with him, as the Democrats of today are finding it difficult to avoid re-nominating Truman.

Then as now, the thinking of some of the party members ran in the direction of a war leader. Exactly similarly to the

ESSAY WHICH WON
MOTHERS' ASS'N PRIZE

"The Career I Wish To Follow" is Title of The Student

BY J. HETHERINGTON

"The Career I Wish to Follow" was the title of the essay which won for James Hetherington, Bristol high school senior, the annual award of the Mothers Association. Bristol public schools. Name of winner was announced at the class night exercises of Bristol high school seniors on Thursday evening. The essay follows:

"THE CAREER I WISH TO FOLLOW"

It is my calling to enter the Christian ministry. It is not really a career, for its success is inestimable. It will merely be one short lifetime devoted to a work that will take many thousands of years. The work of my lifetime, no matter how great in the eyes of my contemporaries, will be no more significant in the progress of mankind than a single tick of a clock during a year—yet, just as the clock is dependent on each of these small tickings, so are the people of this earth dependent on the quiet, unpretentious Christian minister for their only hope of a life after physical death, and the gaining of a worldly peace that will enable them to improve their lives here on earth.

The cynics claim that young men become clergymen because it is a life of prestige and comparative ease. I ask of them, "Who is the cynic that would leave his home and society to do missionary work in the jungles of Africa or the crowded, diseased cities of India? Which one would spend years of his life working in a leper colony? Is this a life of ease and luxury? Prestige is of little value in these places."

Then the cynics would ask why a young man with prospects for a life of much material gain should decide to do things of this nature. I answer their question with another question—"If one of them discovered a miraculous cure for cancer would he forget it and tell no one?" So it is with those who have discovered the only way to be truly happy, the only thing that can possibly bring the world peace, and the only hope the world has to conquer death.

The Bristol Rotary Club is going to supervise the roller skating tournament to be conducted here next Tuesday afternoon as part of Youth Week program.

That portion of Radcliffe street, extending from Jefferson avenue to Monroe street, is to be roped off so that the skaters can glide along without interference.

There is a large number of roller skaters in Bristol and Bristol Township who are eligible for this event and the competition should be keen.

The section of Radcliffe street selected is said to be ideal for such a contest. It is reported there is the slightest grade to the hard surfaced street which will permit the skaters to gain good speed.

FABLE FOR EISENHOWER

The name of General Dwight D. Eisenhower continues to be bandied about in politics. Rumors persist that he is about to take part in some spectacular maneuver. Some say he will be used to set off a stampede for Senator Vandenberg's nomination at the Republican convention. There have been several public references to a quite different story—that his name will go before the Democratic convention in an effort to head off the re-nomination of Mr. Truman.

Just how much fire is back of this smoke remains to be seen. On the face of the record, General Eisenhower can hardly help being displeased at the way these rumors keep going the rounds. He disclaimed ambition for the Presidency in a flat-footed statement some weeks ago—and went on to prove that a military leader should not be given that high post.

If by any chance, the General has in mind to step back into politics, after having thus bowed out, he would be exceedingly well advised to recall a story out of political history—and then, if he is really bright enough to be a suitable person to head Columbia University, he will sternly resist all temptation to permit himself to be used by political self-seekers.

The fable which General Eisenhower ought to recall—though it isn't really fable, but true fact—has to do with the misadventures of Admiral George Dewey exactly forty-eight years ago.

There are some astonishing parallels between the situation then and now. History has repeated, in many of the important details.

Then as now, the Democratic party was in a box. It was stuck with a candidate it didn't want. Today the party is stuck with President Truman. In 1900, it was William Jennings Bryan. Bryan had "stolen" the 1896 nomination, having stampeded the convention with his "cross of gold" speech.

As the 1900 conventions neared, the Democrats of that time found it just as hard to escape re-nominating Bryan, and going down to defeat with him, as the Democrats of today are finding it difficult to avoid re-nominating Truman.

Then as now, the thinking of some of the party members ran in the direction of a war leader. Exactly similarly to the ANDALUSIA, June 9 — A Philadelphia taxicab driver was the victim of a hold-up here last night, he being ordered at gun-point from his cab after bringing a passenger from Philadelphia to this community. The sum of approximately $40 was taken from the driver, he has reported to police.

The victim of the hold-up is Morris Odesser, of 1918 N. 32nd street, Philadelphia.

Odesser informed Penna. State Police at Langhorne barracks that he had picked up a "fare," a white man, at the corner of Broad and Locust streets, Philadelphia, late last evening. The passenger asked to be taken to the Mayfair section. When Mayfair was reached he kept informing the driver that the place he wanted must be a "little further up," and finally the two reached this community. Indicating that a turn was to be made to reach his destination, the man is said to have pointed a gun at the driver when they reached a side road, and the driver was ordered out of the car.

The taxicab, owned by John Parker, Camden, N. J., a member of the United Taxicab Owners' Association, was found abandoned in the Richmond section of Philadelphia. According to police, Odesser was not harmed.

$5,000-A-YEAR PRIVATE

An expanding Army and a zooming Air Force require men. Maj. Gen. T. J. Hanley, USAF, chief of personnel procurement, is looking hard at the 400,000 young men who will graduate this month from the nation's high schools.

He lists the facilities for technical training, college credits and officer-candidate training. He explains the new "Army Career Plan" whereby a good man is assured of advancement in his own selected field of (say) meteorology or radio.

Down toward the end he puts a solid fact that could stand a great deal more emphasis. It is this: "Recent studies show that a private's real income equals that of a $3,000-a-year civilian." Besides his base pay he gets free medical and dental care, lodging, food, clothing and "many other benefits not available to civilians." They all add up.

A career without marriage wouldn't amount to much, would it, from the new high school graduate's viewpoint? All right, let's look ahead—because the bright and ambitious young man is going to get ahead in the Army or Air Forces. As soon as he becomes a staff sergeant he can think seriously of marrying. At that grade he can be furnished a married man's quarters.

It is true that at present the quarters for housekeeping sometimes are not available. The sergeant gets a rental allowance and has to do the best he can. Yet the Army and Air Force have their own building program.

Housekeeping quarters will be built while a man is building up his rank to staff sergeant—where the pay, with allowances, is a great deal more than $3,000 a year, not counting the extras for being married.

It's something for a high school graduate to think about.

HENRY'S LONESOME ROAD

Since he began taking his signals from Moscow, Henry Wallace has traveled so far down the totalitarian road that he no longer seems to be able to tell the difference between democracy and dictatorship.

Speaking to an Oregon audience he said that people who live on submarginal land ought to be prevented by the government from having children. Later, at the urging of a horrified aide, he retracted the suggestion.

Abraham Lincoln once said that the Lord must love the common people because he makes so many of them. The new champion of the downtrodden seems to have a different outlook. Or maybe Henry got surplus children mixed up with the surplus pigs he ordered slaughtered when he was Secretary of Agriculture.

Government will spend $500,000 studying the life of the clam. Why not wait. One may decide to publish its memoirs.

It seems the America Speaks radio programs are to be interrupted by a brief word from the sponsor.

current talk of "drafting" Eisenhower, the Democrats of that period turned toward Admiral Dewey, sensational victor in the Spanish-American War, who had been given the biggest popular demonstrations of affection and support ever received by any American up to that time.

The acclaim awarded General Eisenhower is, if anything, even less than that given Admiral Dewey. He was the toast of the new century. He was showered with honorary degrees—from Princeton and the University of Pennsylvania, among others. Popular songs were written to him, of which the best-remembered runs like this:

"Oh, dewy was the morning
Upon the first of May,
And Dewey was the Admiral,
Down in Manila Bay.
And dewy were the Regent's eyes,
Them orbs of royal blue,
And dew we feel discouraged?
I dew not think we dew!"

When first approached on the question of running for President on the Democratic ticket, Admiral Dewey turned the proposal down with a dignified, categorical statement quite in line with that issued last spring by General Eisenhower:

"I would not accept a nomination for the Presidency of the United States. I have no desire for any political office. I am unfitted for it, having neither the education nor the training. I am deeply grateful for many expressions of kindly sentiment from the American people, but I desire to retire in peace to the enjoyment of my old age. The Navy is one profession, politics another. I am too old to learn a new profession now. I have no political associations and my health would never stand the strain of a canvass. I have been approached by politicians repeatedly, in one way or another, but I have refused absolutely to consider any proposition whatever. This is final."

Unfortunately, it wasn't final. Again, just as it is now being said that General Eisenhower's flat rejection of the nomination may somehow be recalled, so that he will be pushed into the arena either as candidate or king-maker, so Admiral Dewey in fact changed his mind.

On April 4, 1900, in a story which holds journalistic fame as one of history's outstanding scoops, the New York World blazed forth with an interview with Admiral Dewey which contained the following lines:

"If the American people want me for this high office, I shall be only too willing to serve them. . . . Since studying this subject, I am convinced that the office of the President is not such a very difficult one to fill, his duties being mainly to execute the laws of Congress. Should I be chosen for this exalted position, I would execute the laws of Congress as faithfully as I have always executed the orders of my superiors. . . .

"On what platform will you stand?"
"I think I have said enough at this time, and possibly too much."

The "possibly too much" was a distinct understatement. The interview was a political bombshell, which blew the complacent Admiral sky-high. Probably no other potential candidate for president ever eliminated himself more quickly, or in more spectacular fashion.

Unhappily, the Admiral's popularity, already undermined by misunderstandings about his venture into matrimony and his attitude towards a house given him by the public, went to pieces almost as fast as his chances of getting to the White House.

(For a detailed appraisal of this chapter in political history, see Mark Sullivan's fascinating series, "Our Times," volume one.)

The Admiral had demonstrated only too well his earlier conclusion that "the Navy is one profession, politics another." It would be impossible to imagine a more impolitic statement than the words with which Admiral Dewey announced his availability—the remark that "the office of the President is not such a very difficult one to fill," or that all a President has to do is mainly to "execute the laws of Congress."

General Eisenhower, in his formal statement renouncing his candidacy for President, made much the same observation that Admiral Dewey did—that politics is a profession in itself, requiring long training, and offering to those who specialize in it great opportunities for public, patriotic service.

If this fable has a moral, it is that General Eisenhower would be smart to do what Admiral Dewey didn't do—let it go at that; stick by his refusal to take part in something where he will be merely a vehicle for forces he doesn't understand; and not jeopardize his standing before the world by repudiating, either in word or spirit, the "hands off" declaration he made recently.

CANNIBAL MUSHROOM

DUNKIRK, France — (INS) — A voracious mushroom, which devours wood and damages all kinds of building materials, is endangering the reconstruction of war-devastated Dunkirk. The growth, called the merule, eats into the heavy joists and timbers, clings to brick surfaces and gnaws the underpinnings of buildings. Counter-measures, limited thus far to replacing the damaged wood and treating contaminated surfaces with lime have been largely ineffective.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 9, 1948

$3,000-A-YEAR PRIVATE

An expanding Army and a zooming Air Force require men.
Maj. Gen. T. J. Hanley, USAF, chief of personnel procurement, is looking hard at the 400,000 young men who will graduate this month from the nation's high schools.

He lists the facilities for technical training, college credits and officer-candidate training. He explains the new "Army Career Plan" whereby a good man is assured of advancement in his own selected field of (say) meteorology or radio.

Down toward the end he puts a solid fact that could stand a great deal more emphasis. It is this:
"Recent studies show that a private's real income equals that of a $3,000-a-year civilian." Besides his base pay he gets free medical and dental care, lodging, food, clothing and "many other benefits not available to civilians." They all add up.

A career without marriage wouldn't amount to much, would it, from the new high school graduate's viewpoint? All right, let's look ahead—because the bright and ambitious young man is going to get ahead in the Army or Air Forces. As soon as he becomes a staff sergeant he can think seriously of marrying. At that grade he can be furnished a married man's quarters.

It is true that at present the quarters for housekeeping sometimes are not available. The sergeant gets a rental allowance and has to do the best he can. Yet the Army and Air Force have their own building program.

Housekeeping quarters will be built while a man is building up his rank to staff sergeant—where the pay, with allowances, is a great deal more than $3,000 a year, not counting the extras for being married.

It's something for a high school graduate to think about.

HENRY'S LONGSOME ROAD

Since he began taking his signals from Moscow, Henry Wallace has traveled so far down the totalitarian road that he no longer seems to be able to tell the difference between democracy and dictatorship.

Speaking to an Oregon audience he said that people who live on submarginal land ought to be prevented by the government from having children. Later, at the urging of a horrified aide, he retracted the suggestion.

Abraham Lincoln once said that the Lord must love the common people because he makes so many of them. The new champion of the downtrodden seems to have a different outlook. Or maybe Henry got surplus children mixed up with the surplus pigs he ordered slaughtered when he was Secretary of Agriculture.

Government will spend $500-000 studying the life of the clam.
Why not wait. One may decide to publish its memoirs.

It seems the America Speaks radio programs are to be interrupted for a brief word from the

Fable For Eisenhower

current talk of "drafting" Eisenhower, the Democrats of that period turned toward Admiral Dewey, sensational victor in the Spanish-American War, who had been given the biggest popular demonstrations of affection and support ever received by any American up to that time.

The acclaim awarded General Eisenhower is, if anything, even less than that given Admiral Dewey. He was the toast of the new century. He was showered with honorary degrees—from Princeton and the University of Pennsylvania, among others. Popular songs were written to him, of which the best-remembered runs like this:

"Oh, dewy was the morning
Upon the first of May,
And Dewey was the Admiral,
Down in Manila Bay.
And dewy were the Regent's eyes,
Them orbs of royal blue,
And dew we feel discouraged?
I dew not think we dew!"

When first approached on the question of running for President on the Democratic ticket, Admiral Dewey turned the proposal down with a dignified, categorical statement quite in line with that issued last spring by General Eisenhower:

"I would not accept a nomination for the Presidency of the United States. I have no desire for any political office. I am unfitted for it, having neither the education nor the training. I am deeply grateful for many expressions of kindly sentiment from the American people, but I desire to retire in peace to the enjoyment of my old age. The Navy is one profession, politics another. I am too old to learn a new profession now. I have no political associations and my health would never stand the strain of a canvass. I have been approached by politicians repeatedly, in one way or another, but I have refused absolutely to consider any proposition whatever. This is final."

Unfortunately, it wasn't final. Again, just as it is now being said that General Eisenhower's flat rejection of the nomination may somehow be recalled, so that he will be pushed into the arena either as candidate or king-maker, so Admiral Dewey in fact changed his mind.

On April 4, 1900, in a story which holds journalistic fame as one of history's outstanding scoops, the New York World blazed forth with an interview with Admiral Dewey which contained the following lines:

"If the American people want me for this high office,
I shall be only too willing to serve them. . . . Since studying this subject, I am convinced that the office of the President is not such a very difficult one to fill, his duties being mainly to execute the laws of Congress.
Should I be chosen for this exalted position, I would execute the laws of Congress as faithfully as I have always executed the orders of my superiors. . . .
"On what platform will you stand?"
"I think I have said enough at this time, and possibly too much."

The "possibly too much" was a distinct understatement.
The interview was a political bombshell, which blew the complacent Admiral sky-high. Probably no other potential candidate for president ever eliminated himself more quickly, or in more spectacular fashion.

Unhappily, the Admiral's popularity, already undermined by misunderstandings about his venture into matrimony and his attitude towards a house given him by the public, went to pieces almost as fast as his chances of getting to the White House.

(For a detailed appraisal of this chapter in political history, see Mark Sullivan's fascinating series, "Our Times," volume one.)

The Admiral had demonstrated only too well his earlier conclusion that "the Navy is one profession, politics another."
It would be impossible to imagine a more impolitic statement than the words with which Admiral Dewey announced his availability—the remark that "the office of the President is not such a very difficult one to fill," or that all a President has to do is mainly to "execute the laws of Congress."

General Eisenhower, in his formal statement renouncing his candidacy for President, made much the same observation that Admiral Dewey did—that politics is a profession in itself, requiring long training, and offering to those who specialize in it great opportunities for public, patriotic service.

If this fable has a moral, it is that General Eisenhower would be smart to do what Admiral Dewey didn't do—let it go at that; stick by his refusal to take part in something where he will be merely a vehicle for forces he doesn't understand; and not jeopardize his standing before the world by repudiating, either in word or spirit, the "hands off" declaration he made recently.

QUAINT and COZY

By Marion Clyde McCarroll

Here's a quaint and cozy little home for those with a yen to live in the country. If you haven't a big family, that is.

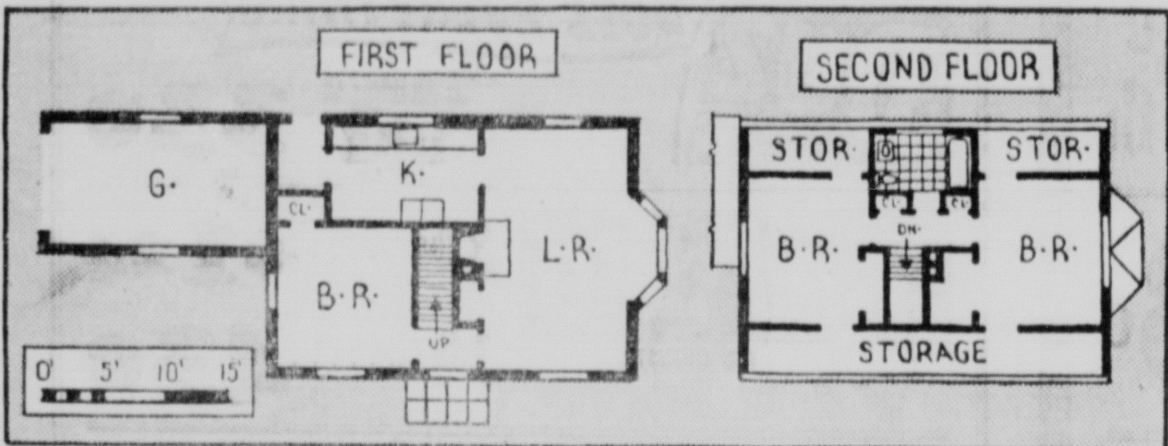

A childless couple, or a couple with one child, or two small children who could use the same bedroom, would fit snugly into this modern adaptation of a French Provincial cottage.

True, provision has been made for a third bedroom on the first floor, but its occupant would have to trot upstairs for a bath, since no bathroom has been included in the ground floor. So it would probably be more practical to turn this downstairs front corner room into a study, or perhaps to build the house with a connecting doorway between it and the kitchen, and use it for a dining room.

Planning to Live in the Country! Then maybe this modern adaptation of a quaint little French Provincial cottage is just what you're looking for. Not if you have a big family, though, because it's really practical for only a small one. Luxurious for a childless couple.

Although the Plans of the House provide for three bedrooms, anyone building it would probably do better to turn the ground floor bedroom into dining room or study since downstairs lacks a bathroom.

RECIPES

Savory Green Peppers

1½ cups cooked sliced beef tongue
4 medium-sized green peppers
1½ teaspoon salt
1 cup cooked whole kernel corn
½ cup chili sauce
1-3 cup butter or margarine
1 cup bread crumbs
Slice top from peppers. Wash and remove seeds. Simmer in water 5 minutes. Drain. Combine tongue, corn, salt, onion, chili sauce, butter and crumbs. Fill pepper shells. Place peppers in saucepan. Add about 2 tablespoons water. Cover.

Fish Chowder

1½ lb. fresh cod, haddock or any other large fish
2 cups diced potatoes
1 cup diced carrots
1 quart water
¾ pound salt pork, diced
2 tablespoons flour
1 onion, chopped
1 pint milk
Salt
Pepper
Cut the fish into small pieces and remove the bones and skin. Cook fish, potatoes, and carrots in the water for 15 minutes. Fry the salt pork until crisp. Remove from the fat, cook the onion in the fat for a few minutes, add the flour, stir until well blended, and add the milk. Add this mixture to the fish and vegetables, add salt and pepper, stir frequently, and simmer 10 minutes longer. Serve over crackers.

Barbecued Lamb Ribslets

2 pounds lamb ribslets, cut in 2-inch pieces
¾ cup Worcestershire sauce
½ cup catsup

Creamed Spinach, Latin Style

2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
Dash pepper
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup milk
½ cup grated American cheese
1½ cups cooked finely chopped spinach (about 2 pounds)
1 tablespoon finely chopped onion
1 tablespoon finely chopped pimiento
¼ teaspoon tarragon

2 tablespoons fine dry bread crumbs
Paprika.
Melt butter, add flour, pepper and one-half teaspoon of the salt, and stir until smooth. Stir in milk slowly. Add one-quarter cup of the cheese and cook, stirring constantly until sauce is smooth and thickened. Mix together spinach, onion, pimiento, remaining half teaspoon salt and tarragon. Combine cheese sauce with spinach mixture. Place in a buttered 1½ quart casserole. Combine remaining quarter cup cheese and bread crumbs and sprinkle on top of spinach mixture. Sprinkle with paprika. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 20 minutes or until bread crumbs and cheese mixture is browned. Six servings.

Important: Fresh, frozen or canned spinach may be used.

LT. VAN LENTEN PITCHES "SAINTS" TO A CLOSE VICTORY

LT. Wilbur VanLenten, now stationed at Fort Monmouth, N. J., felled the St. Ann's team into first place in the Bristol Suburban League last evening on the Memorial Park field before one of the largest crowds of the season. St. Ann's beat the Goodwill Hose team, 3-2, in the best played tilt of the season.

VanLenten outpitched "Hughie" Deans to gain the triumph for the Wood street boys. He allowed the batters five hits while St. Ann's collected eight hits off Deans. VanLenten whiffed 14 of the fire-eaters while Deans set down four St. Ann's batters on strikes. VanLenten walked two batters and hit another while Deans passed one and also committed a balk.

Both teams did fine fielding. The winners played errorless ball while Goodwill was charged with two errors, both of which aided the "Saints" in the scoring of runs. Oppman, Fahey, and Sallustio starred afield.

The league-leaders were set down in order by Deans in the first three innings but their trio of markers in the fourth proved to be enough to win the game. The trouble all started after two were out on a double-play. Palumbo had walked and advanced on Ludwig's sacrifice but went too far off second and was nabbed trying to get back. Pappaterra then singled and so did Barbetta. Oppman had hold on Pappaterra's short fly but dropped it. Sassi hit to right and Pappaterra crossed. On Walker's throw to the plate, Elmer let the ball get away from him and Barbetta crossed. Sallustio hit to Grimes who fumbled. Sassi scoring the winning run.

Goodwill scored a run in the first when Grimes was hit with a pitched ball and Bauroth and Elmer followed with base hit. Elmer also knocked in the second run in the sixth when Goodwill passed up its best opportunity to win. Oppman walked and Hansen struck out. Bauroth also received a pass and when Elmer singled, Oppman denied home plate. Cahill also hit safely to fill the bags but Fahey struck out and Walker lifted a fly to Massi.

FOUR GAMES TONIGHT

Four games will be played in the Bristol Youth League this evening, with tilts scheduled on Memorial Park field, Leedom's field, Bristol Terrace, and Newportville. Last Sunday, Croydon, Township, and Junior Hibernians opened the circuit with victories. The Fourth Ward-Newportville game ended in a 3-3 deadlock. No Bristol Suburban League game is scheduled for this evening.

"NEW LOOK" BOTTLES

SAN ANTONIO, Tex.—(INS)—The future of the round milk bottle in Texas looks as dark as the inside of a refrigerator with the door closed. San Antonio now is the only major city in Texas not using square milk bottles or square paper containers. However, plans are being made for the introduction of 4-ounce milk bottles with the "new look." Dairy men say the advantage of the square bottle is that they take less space in trucks, storage vaults, and home refrigerators.

Inside Your Congress

From Jail to Jobs!

—by— SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL "The Gentleman from Indiana"

One out of every twelve Federal bureaucrats has a police record! This fact was discovered by the F. B. I. in its screening of government employees for possible Communist tie-ups. Counting those not caught, this seems a bit high for an uplift Administration.

Of course, an arrest leads to a police record, even if the charge is dismissed, or the accused is found not guilty. Besides, a lot of us men have gotten a ticket for driving through a traffic light gazing at a "New Looker." But the F. B. I. chief, J. Edgar Hoover, says "the great mass are felons; we have very few misdeemeanors." Of 71,520 who applied for jobs in the atomic energy program, 6,221 had police records.

Washington needs a big house-cleaning. It is an old story. Too long tenure in office leads to corruption.

The same U. S. Government that is fining landlords for raising rents has sued to evict a tenant for not paying a 100 per cent increase demanded for a service station on an abandoned post office site. The United States Government claims its royal prerogative. It says it is not bound by the New York State commercial rent law. The king can do no wrong.

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, in the Ladies Home Journal, says: "I believe, of course, that aid for rehabilitation should go even to Communist countries since with a better standard of living there is bound to be more insistence on individual rights." If this reasoning is sound, how does the lady explain American millionaires supporting Communist fronts? And how do you explain our pioneer forebears, with a very low standard of living, being very insistent on their rights to the little they had?

With regard to aid to Communist countries, Mrs. Roosevelt should read Senate Document No. 112, which reports that we have sent $1,600,000,000 worth of stuff to Russia and eight of her stooge nations since July 1, 1945, which was after V. E. Day.

Another fallacy of Mrs. Roosevelt's is her assumption that our rich and well-to-do Americans are paying for aid to Europe and Russia. The poorest pay, also. Those on old-age relief, whose average check, per month, is $39.29, also pay. And, due to the rise in our cost of living, that $39.29 will only buy as many groceries as $23.48 would in 1940.

A widow, or fatherless child, gets a government check of $14.42 a month—yes, a month! And this will buy as much as $5.60 would buy before the great onrushing began to make the world unsafe for Nazism and safe for Communism.

As our own poor folks' standard of living falls in this country to raise the standard of living in Communist countries, is the world better off?

I note that Mr. Truman wants to extend the Marshall Plan to the Koreans and the Japs. Still more to be bought off from going Communist. But don't touch the bureaucrats! Japan's bureaucrats now number 2,800,000—double the number at the end of the war. Don't put them in the rice fields! Leave them on the payroll, or they'll go Communist!

Meantime, the Census Bureau reports that Federal and State government costs $364 per capita last year. That's $1,456 for man, wife and two kids.

Besides those with police records, there are a lot of Robin Hoods who think that "throwing other people's money around is a sign of a pure heart." We have stopped runs on banks and now have runs on the government treasury.

—SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL

KANSAS "ZUIDER" MILL

WAMEGO, Kans.—(INS)—A 40-foot red sandstone mill still stands at a farmstead near Wamego, although it hasn't been used for about 50 years. The mill, an exact replica of a Zuider Zee windmill, was erected about 70 years ago by a Hollander who had migrated to this country. Its six huge vanes almost swept the ground for more than 20 years. When it gave way to modern machine-operated mills, owners of the structure gave it to the city of Wamego.

executive vice president Pennsylvania Realtors; Harry Nagel, representing Boy Scouts of America; Clarence Urfer, executive Region 3 of Boy Scouts of America; Raymond Hoxworth, Scout executive of Bucks County; Henry Matthews, president of Pennsylvania State Real Estate Association; Wilson L. Yeakel, member of the House of Representatives of Pennsylvania and Mr. Stockham's colleague; former United States Senator Joseph R. Grundy, Bucks county.

There were about 100 automobiles in the funeral procession, and the funeral is said to have been the largest ever held in this borough.

Mr. Stockham was fatally stricken Friday evening after addressing a meeting of Bucks County fire chiefs at Newtown.

Services were conducted in the church of the Incarnation (Episcopal) at two o'clock, and burial was made in Morrisville Cemetery. The Rev. William T. Warren, rector of the local church, and Dr. Frank M. Ulrich, the latter pastor of Holy Trinity Lutheran Church, Philadelphia, officiated at the service.

The funeral was under the direction of William I. Murphy.

Trial Gets Under Way In Bucks Court

he would have something to say about the penalty when he sums up the case.

According to one of the officers who escorted Darcy from the Bucks county prison to the court house this morning, the prisoner is reported to have said: "Well, let's go. We're off to the slaughter-house."

The first witness called was William S. Erwin, an engineer from Langhorne, who testified as to the plans he has drawn of the Feather-ville Inn. He gave information as to the layout of the inn.

Taking the witness stand at about 11 o'clock, John R. Naysmith, proprietor of the Featherville Inn, where a hold-up preceded the shooting of Kelly, told of the hold-up staged by a group of young Philadelphia men. Naysmith informed hat Harold Foster, who last week was sentenced to the electric chair in the same fatal shooting, was the one who on entering the place declared it a hold-up. Naysmith states that he heard shots fired, saw Foster fire two of them, and also saw Darcy with a gun in his hands point it at 18 people lined up against the wall. "I saw one man on the floor who had been shot." This was Alan Hellerman, it was revealed.

Continuing, Naysmith, using Darcy's ungrammatical language, stated: "Darcy walked over from the juke box and said 'Where's the hero that hit me? Why don't somebody take this gun off me? I feel like shooting somebody else. Where is the police?'"

The witness said that money was taken from patrons' wallets by Foster, and that Darcy took their watches. Darcy is said to have commented to one elderly man who tossed his wrist watch to Darcy: "Pop, you shouldn't throw that. You should hand it to me."

The inn proprietor stated that it was Darcy who shot at the telephone, putting it out of commission. He reiterated Foster's statements about wishing the group a "Merry Christmas." Naysmith informed that $78 was taken from the cash register.

Challenged or excused late Tuesday morning: Mrs. Eva F. Kinsey, Telford RD 1; Mary E. Singley, Upper Black Eddy; Edmund C. Anderson, Langhorne RD 2; Mrs. Emily B. Maddox, Pipersville, housewife; Carlton A. Palmer, Morrisville, dairyman; Noah M. Rice, Perkaskie RD 2, farmer; Mrs. Virginia Mann, Perkaskie; Robert H. Clarendon, Buckingham Township; Mrs. Rachel

Of course, an arrest leads to a police record, even if the charge is dismissed, or the accused is found not guilty. Besides, a lot of us men have gotten a ticket for driving through a traffic light gazing at a "New Looker." But the F. B. I. chief, J. Edgar Hoover, says "the great mass are felons; we have very few misdeemeanors." Of 71,920 who applied for jobs in the atomic energy program, 6,221 had police records.

Washington needs a big house-cleaning. It is an old story. Too long tenure in office leads to corruption.

The same U. S. Government that is fining landlords for raising rents has sued to evict a tenant for not paying a 100 per cent increase demanded for a service station on an abandoned post office site. The United States Government claims its royal prerogative. It says it is not bound by the New York State commercial rent law. The king can do no wrong!

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, in the Ladies Home Journal, says: "I believe, of course, that aid for rehabilitation should go even to Communist countries since with a better standard of living there is bound to be more insistence on individual rights." If this reasoning is sound, how does the lady explain American millionaires supporting Communist fronts? And how do you explain our pioneer forebears, with a very low standard of living, being very insistent on their rights to the little they had?

With regard to aid to Communist countries, Mrs. Roosevelt should read Senate Document No. 112, which reports that we have sent $1,600,000,000 worth of stuff to Russia and eight of her stooge nations since July 1, 1945, which was after V. E. Day.

Another fallacy of Mrs. Roosevelt's is her assumption that only rich and well-to-do Americans are paying for aid to Europe and Russia. The poorest pay, also. Those on old-age relief, whose average check per month, is $39.20, also pay. And, due to the rise in our cost of living, that $39.20 will only buy as many groceries as $23.48 would in 1940.

A widow, or fatherless child, gets a government check of $14.42 a month—yes, a month! And this will buy as much as $8.60 would buy before the great crusade began to make the world unsafe for Nazism and safe for Communism.

As our own poor folks' standard of living falls in this country to raise the standard of living in Communist countries, is the world better off?

I note that Mr. Truman wants to extend the Marshall Plan to the Koreans and the Japs. Still more to be bought off from going Communist. But don't touch the bureaucrats! Japan's bureaucrats now number 2,800,000, double the number at the end of the war. Don't put them in the rice fields! Leave them on the payroll, or they'll go Communist!

Meantime, the Census Bureau reports that Federal and State government costs $361 per capita last year. That's $1,456 for man, wife and two kids.

Besides those with police records there are a lot of Robin Hoods who think that "throwing other people's money around is a sign of a pure heart." We have stopped runs on banks and now have runs on the government treasury.

KANSAS "ZUIDER" MILL

WAMEGO, Kans.—(INS)—A 40-foot red sandstone mill still stands at a farm site near Wamego, although it hasn't been used for about 50 years. The mill, an exact replica of a Zuidere windmill, was erected about 70 years ago by a Hollander who had migrated to this country. Its six huge vanes almost swept the ground for more than 20 years. When it gave way to modern machine-operated mills, owners of the structure gave it to the city of Wamego.

Members of the class are "Jack" Walterick, Richard Baker, Dorothy Pope, Glenn Gerhart, Dolores Miller, Robert Baker, Raymond Burton, John Chase, and John Petschelt. Members of the school board present were Henry B. Clay and William Parr. Others attending: Mrs. Walter Strouse, Mrs. Helen Nichols, Mrs. Chester Bloomfield, Miss Elsie Ettenger, Mrs. George Colville and Miss Margaret Faughman.

Trial Gets Under Way In Bucks Court

he would have something to say about the penalty when he sums up the case.

According to one of the officers who escorted Darcy from the Bucks county prison to the court house this morning, the prisoner is reported to have said: "Well, let's go. We're off to the slaughter-house."

The first witness called was William S. Erwin, an engineer from Langhorne, who testified as to the plans he has drawn of the Feasterville Inn. He gave information as to the layout of the inn.

Taking the witness stand at about 11 o'clock, John R. Naysmith, proprietor of the Feasterville Inn, where a hold-up preceded the shooting of Kelly, told of the hold-up staged by a group of young Philadelphia men. Naysmith informed hat Harold Foster, who last week was sentenced to the electric chair in the same fatal shooting, was the one who on entering the place declared it a hold-up. Naysmith states that he heard shots fired, saw Foster fire two of them, and also saw Darcy with a gun in his hands point it at 18 people lined up against the wall. "I saw one man on the floor who had been shot." This was Alan Hellerman, it was revealed.

Continuing, Naysmith, using Darcy's ungrammatical language, stated: "Darcy walked over from the juke box and said 'Where's the hero that hit me? Why don't somebody take this gun off me? I feel like shooting somebody else. Where is the police?'"

The witness said that money was taken from patrons' wallets by Foster, and that Darcy took their watches. Darcy is said to have commented to one elderly man who tossed his wrist watch to Darcy: "Pop, you shouldn't throw that. You should hand it to me."

The inn proprietor stated that it was Darcy who shot at the telephone, putting it out of commission. He reiterated Foster's statements about wishing the group a "Merry Christmas." Naysmith informed that $78 was taken from the cash register.

Challenged or excused late Tuesday morning: Mrs. Eva F. Kinsey, Telford RD 1; Mary E. Singley, Upper Black Eddy; Edmund C. Anderson, Langhorne RD 2; Mrs. Emily B. Maddox, Pipersville, housewife; Carlton A. Palmer, Morrisville, dairyman; Noah M. Rice, Perkaskie RD 2, farmer; Mrs. Virginia Mann, Perkaskie; Robert H. Clarendon, Buckingham Township; Mrs. Rachel
